

A Conversation Reza Aslan on God: A Human History

Join us during this discussion as we continue the 20th anniversary celebration of the Center for Islamic and Arabic Studies.

Moderated by Huma Ahmed-Ghosh, director, Center for Islamic and Arabic Studies and professor, Department of Women's Studies, SDSU.

Reza Aslan is an Iranian-American scholar of religious studies, writer, and television host. He has written four books on religion: No God but God: The Origins, Evolution, and Future of Islam; Beyond Fundamentalism: Confronting Religious Extremism in the Age of Globalization; Zealot: The Life and Times of Jesus of Nazareth; and God: A Human History. Aslan has worked in a variety of television productions, including a documentary series exploring world religions on CNN called "Believer," and served as an executive producer on the HBO drama series "The Leftovers." Aslan is a member of the American Academy of Religion, the Society of Biblical Literature, and the International Qur'anic Studies Association. He is a professor of creative writing at University of California, Riverside and a board member of the National Iranian American Council (NIAC).
